President's Update

by Bert Del Villano - Club President

Current and past FLC officers hope that all had a full and wonderful holiday season. Anne and I certainly did – sharing time with family and friends, especially our Porsche friends.

As your new President, I want to extend a sincere thank you to Lyn Perez, Jim LaPiana, Nancy Burgos, and Dan Beyer for their service to the club. Special thanks to Lyn who has provided steady guidance and an excellent range of activities. Of course, the officers could not have managed all of the year's events alone. They were assisted by a great cast of volunteers – thanks to all. This year, I will be supported by an outstanding slate of officers; Karyn Rinaldi, (Vice President), Dan Beyer (Treasurer) and Nancy Burgos (Secretary) as well as hard working volunteers.

We are looking forward to an active and diverse slate of events for 2020, including performance driving, touring, and social events. Our monthly meetings will be at Porsche of Orlando each of the odd numbered months, starting January 6, and at Porsche of South Orlando on the even months, starting February 3. We will hold a short meeting and then adjourn to a local eatery for good food, and Porsche camaraderie.

The biggest events in January are the Roar Before the Rolex 24 (Jan. 3-5), and the Rolex 24 at Daytona (Jan. 25-26), both at Daytona International Speedway. Beside watching outstanding professional racing, you can visit the PCA hospitality tent and offer to help park cars and more. FLC has traditionally been responsible for parking in the Porsche corral on Saturday morning. Contact our Zone Rep, Lisa Lewis (caymancrazy2012@yahoo.com) to volunteer. Note that you will need tickets to both events to enter the grounds and we do not have free tickets.

In addition, FLC will sponsor another movie and dinner (TBD), and 3 performance driving events. An autocross on Jan. 11 (Direct Link: <https://clubregistration.net/events/signUp.cfm/event/10400>), our Advanced Driving School Feb. 7 (Direct Link: <https://clubregistration.net/events/signUp.cfm/event/10307>) and DE Feb. 8 and 9 (Direct Link: <https://clubregistration.net/events/signUp.cfm/event/10296>) both at Roebbling Road. These events are an excellent way to drive your car the way the engineers designed it, in a safe and friendly environment.

Finally, if you have an idea for an event, or want to help with an event, please email me.

Happy 2020.

Bert Del Villano
Club President 2020

A Decade of Spiels

After 60 issues and a decade of being the editor and publisher for our club newsletter, this will be our last in the current format. I sincerely hope that the Spiel has helped get everyone involved in our club activities and share in those moments that make the Porsche Club not just about the cars. As a recap, here are the covers from the Spiels from the last 10 years. If you are a long time member I am sure it will be a walk down memory lane. -Travis Young

Last Porsche 991

by Porsche Press Release - Stuttgart

Pioneer, millionaire, bestseller: the 991 series has been the most comprehensively-developed generation of the 911 to date – and the most successful too, with 233,540 units produced. The final specimen has now rolled off the production line: a 911 Speedster.

Michael Steiner, Chief Research and Development Officer Porsche AG has commented: "Porsche stands for both tradition and innovation. This is reflected nowhere more clearly than in the core of the brand – the 911. The 911 replaced the 356 in 1963 and, in the decades that followed, our rear engine model grew into an unrivalled sports car icon. The 991 generation in particular has set new standards in terms of performance, drivability and efficiency. It fills me with pride, as well as a touch of sadness, to have to send it off into retirement. For myself, I can say that the 991 has given me enormous pleasure."

991 Series Review

The 991 generation was launched in 2011 as one of the biggest development steps in the history of the 911. Nearly 90 percent of all components were newly designed or had undergone substantial further development. Thanks to a lightweight body made of an innovative aluminium-steel composite, it was the first time that a new 911 had weighed less than its predecessor. The chassis, which benefitted from a 100 millimetre-longer wheelbase than the model that it replaced, could be equipped with a new, optional roll stabilisation system – Porsche Dynamic Chassis Control (PDCC) – and set the benchmark in terms of driving dynamics. The Cabriolet followed in the spring of 2012 with another innovation. When closed, the lightweight magnesium bows made it possible to achieve a coupé-like curve of roof that had never been seen before, and with a silhouette that was retained even at high speeds. The new 911 Targa, which came out at the end of 2012, was equally spectacular. Like the legendary original Targa, the new model had the characteristic wide hoop instead of B-pillars. At the push of a button, however, the front section of the roof could be moved automatically and stored at the rear.

The host of innovations continued in the 911 Turbo, which saw the first active aerodynamics and particulate filter-equipped turbo engines on any 911 Carrera model.

The 991 generation also proved the ideal basis for special models and radical sports cars. Porsche celebrated the 50th anniversary of its cult sports car in 2013 with an exclusively equipped limited edition model, of which only 1,963 examples were built. In 2016, the 500 PS, naturally aspirated 911 R evoked memories of the road-approved 1967 racing sports car of the same name. Two other purist sports cars with classic predecessors made their debut in 2017: the sporty 911 T and the 911 GT3 high-performance sports car with Touring package. The one-millionth 911 was also built as part of the 991 generation: like Ferry Porsche's first company 911, the not-for-sale commemorative model was painted in Irish Green and boasted leather and Pepita seats. In the same year, Porsche Exclusive Manufaktur presented the 911 Turbo S Exclusive Series with 446 kW (607 PS) and spectacular Golden Yellow Metallic paintwork.

And there was more to come: The fastest and most powerful 911 racing technology ever seen in a production road-going 911 appeared in 2017 in the form of the 515 kW (700 PS) 911 GT2 RS. Its naturally aspirated sister followed a few months later. The 911 GT3 RS had a racing chassis and a 382 kW (520 PS) fourlitre naturally aspirated engine, perfectly combining road and race track.

Right on time to mark the 70th anniversary of Porsche sports cars, the 911 Speedster embodied the original virtues of Porsche: lightweight construction, efficiency, purity and driving pleasure – delivered by a 375 kW (510 PS) four-litre naturally aspirated engine, manual six-speed transmission and high-performance sports chassis. The two-seater was not just the last derivative of the 991 generation, it has now also become the last model of the series to be manufactured and marks a further milestone in the 911-history.
